Solar panel durability depends on the quality of the equipment and the materials used. Some solar panels can handle hail, wind and snow better than other panels.

Top performers were all monocrystalline silicon panels and experienced an increase in performance or a modest decrease amounting to less than one tenth of one percent.

Your solar panel's durability directly impacts its longevity and its efficiency: The most durable solar panels have the lowest degradation rates, enabling them to maintain their efficiency ...

In my experience their build quality isn't quite on par with REC or Q Cells, but still very solid. The one downside is their warranty is a bit shorter at 12 years for product and 25 years for performance.

The well-known Trina Vertex range of panels are considered high quality and very good value for money, in particular, the Vertex S+ (monocrystalline) N-type panels built on the next-generation ...
